

8th International Triticeae Symposium 2017

13th Gatersleben Research Conference
EUCARPIA Cereals Section
GPZ – Gesellschaft für Pflanzenzüchtung

June 12-16, 2017
Wernigerode, Germany

SECOND CIRCULAR

In continuation of a very successful series of seven conferences, we would like to invite you to participate in the 8th International Triticeae Symposium (8ITS) that will be held in Wernigerode, Germany from June 12-16, 2017.

We look forward to welcoming you in Wernigerode.

SCOPE

Triticeae is the economically most important tribe in the grass family (Poaceae). It contains the major cereal crops and forage grasses such as wheat, barley and rye. It also includes important fodder grasses in genera such as Agropyron, Elymus, Leymus, and Psathyrostachys. Because of their economic importance, plants in Triticeae are commonly used for applied and theoretical research and compared with other tribes in Poaceae.

The International Triticeae Symposium is an interdisciplinary conference organised by the International Triticeae Consortium, plant genetic resources researchers, and others. The previous seven Symposia were held in Sweden (1991), United States (1994), Syria (1997), Spain (2001), Czech Republic (2005), Japan (2009), and China (2013). Its primary goal is to bring together outstanding scientists working with Triticeae to exchange information on progress and discuss future research directions with our common interests – to understand and effectively utilise Triticeae species for the benefit of humankind.

TOPICS

This symposium comprises four main themes:

- Taxonomy, Phylogeny and Phytogeography
- Biodiversity and Conservation
- Genetics and Genomics
- Breeding and Utilisation

Other topics include: domestication, evolution, plant genetic resources.

The Local Organising Committee invites you to enjoy this meeting and welcomes any suggestions on the Scientific and Social Programmes.
